Test your skills of critical thinking and logical deduction!

If you are interested and have a good level of English (Strong Intermediate or above), then come and see me. We need a minimum of 15 students to start the course.

The course consists of reading articles, looking at and analysing plans, diagrams and photographs, watching films on 911 and lots of discussion in English. You will be expected to actively participate in the lessons, this is not merely a course of lectures. It is designed to develop your English communication skills and expand your range of technical vocabulary.

Don't forget the 2 CREDITS either!
